How a workbook teaches

Press play. A natural voice reads each part while that part lights up on the page, so you can listen on the bus or read at your desk. Every topic is broken into small steps: a picture, the formula, a worked example, then challenges with new numbers until the method is yours.

- Learn by doing: 30 worked challenges in every workbook
- Flashcards at the end of each session, with progress saved
- Every section links to the exact textbook page that explains it
- Pause and pick up where you left off, on any device

BONUS LECTURE: 35 DIAGRAMS

> Joining late? Week 1 began on 7 November. The workbooks are self-paced and the live classes build week by week, so if you join this week you can catch up on the first three workbooks before Saturday.

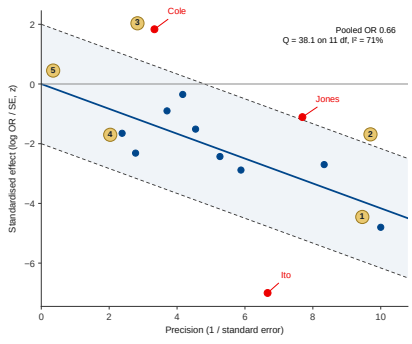

THE CASE FOR THE LIVE COURSE

Nothing else teaches critical appraisal like this.

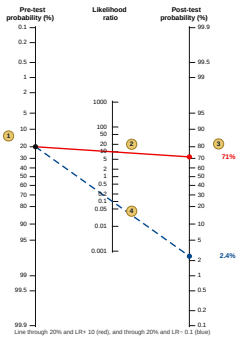

Most critical appraisal revision is a slide deck and a question bank. This is a full course: you hear it, see it, do it, and then a teacher goes through it with you live.
